Last Chance to Complete Immigrant Crime Victim Survey: Monday, 11/20 before 12:00PM EST

The National Immigrant Women's Advocacy Project at American University Washington College of Law is conducting a survey designed to learn about barriers that may prevent foreign-born, immigrant, and limited English proficient victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, dating violence, child abuse, elder abuse and human trafficking from seeking justice system (police, prosecutors, courts) and social services assistance.

This survey is co-sponsored by the Association of Prosecuting Attorneys, the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges, and the Police Executive Research Forum.

We are including below links to four survey designed for four different groups of survey participants. Please complete the one designed for your area of professional expertise. Please also forward these links to others in your field and to the others professionals you work with who serve, represent, or whose work assists immigrant, foreign-born and limited English proficient victims.
