We Can Offer Free Training in Your Jurisdiction
LAW ENFORCEMENT AND PROSECUTION BEST PRACTICES:
IMMIGRANT DOMESTIC AND SEXUAL VIOLENCE VICTIMS, LANGUAGE
ACCESS AND THE U AND T VISA

NIWAP offers free training on U and T visa certification and language access best practices for serving immigrant victims of domestic and sexual violence and enhancing victim, officer and community safety.

This training is a collaboration between the National Immigrant Women's Advocacy Project, AEquitas, National Sheriffs' Association and Asian Pacific Institute on Gender Based Violence.

The training will provide law enforcement and prosecution agency staff with information on the U and T visa programs and the role they play in effective community policing. The training will improve attendees understanding of how investigations can be improved by using language access tools; how agencies can more effectively hold offenders accountable by using the U Visa and T Visa certification as a crime fighting tool and how the safety of law enforcement officers, victims, and the community can be strengthened building collaboration to increase the likelihood of battered immigrants to report and provide helpfulness in the criminal investigation and prosecution of the crime.

This training will be delivered by a national team of law enforcement and prosecutor instructors and subject matter experts that may include the following:

- Jane Anderson, AEquitas
- Christopher Freeman, Prosecutor, Hennepin County, Minnesota
- Shannon Archer, Prosecutor, Polk County, Iowa
- Elliott Casey, Virginia Commonwealth Attorney's Services Council
- Sharla Jackson, Prosecuting Attorneys Council of Georgia
- Investigator Michael LaRiviere, Salem Police Department, Massachusetts
- Detective Stacy Ivie, Alexandria Police Department, Virginia
- Inspector Sgt. Antonio Flores, San Francisco Police Department, California
- Detective Shelli Sonnenberg, Boise Police Department, Idaho
- Commander Giovanni Veliz, Minneapolis Police Department, Minnesota
- Leslye E. Orloff and Rocio Molina, National Immigrant Women's Advocacy Project, American University Washington College of Law
- Canon Han, Senior Project Manager, Asian Pacific Institute on Gender Based Violence

All attendees will receive training materials on best practices on U and T visa certification, work with immigrant survivors, language access at crime scene investigations, a U and T visa tool kit, and links to these and other valuable screening tools and materials.

NIWAP (pronounced new-app) offers technical assistance, training, and written materials to judges, law clerks, court staff, state court educators, and state court administrators on topics that assist courts in family, juvenile, civil and criminal court cases involving foreign born victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, dating violence, child and elder abuse, and human trafficking. We specialize on how immigration laws intersect with state family, protection order, custody, child support, public benefits and language access laws and providing courts with up-to-date legally correct information about immigration laws.

NIWAP's Technical Assistance Staff: Technical assistance to courts and judges is offered by a national team of NIWAP staff and judicial officers with expertise in hearing cases involving immigrant litigants and children in family, juvenile and criminal court cases. NIWAP's staff were involved in drafting the immigration crime victims' protections in the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) and the Trafficking Victims Protection Act (TVPA) and have expertise in family law, public benefits, immigration and language access matters.

Our technical assistance covers the following topics:

- Legal rights of immigrant women and children and victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, child abuse, elder abuse, human trafficking, and other crimes;
- Family Law: Special issues that arise in family court cases involving immigrants including civil protection orders, custody, child and spousal support, divorce, termination of parental rights and Special Immigrant Juvenile Status;
- Immigration Options for Immigrant Victims of Crime or Abuse: Immigration relief under the Violence Against Women Act, U –visas for crime victims, T –visas for trafficking victims, U and T visa certification by judges, Special Immigrant Juvenile Status findings, and VAWA confidentiality protections that limit immigration enforcement at courthouses and state court discovery of information about and contained in federal immigration cases;
- Access to Public Benefits and Victim Services: Immigrant access to federal and state-funded public benefits including healthcare, housing, educational benefits, victim services, driver's licenses, food and disaster assistance and access help for victims from the family, juvenile, criminal and civil courts;
- Language Access: Improving access for limited English proficient women, children and crime victims to assistance from police, prosecutors, courts, victim services, the justice, health care and social services systems;
- Referrals to programs nation-wide with experience and expertise serving immigrant victims of crime and abuse;
- Trainings and training materials: on legal rights and culturally and linguistically accessible court services;
- Strategies and Best Practices for state, local or federal court systems in improving access to justice for immigrant victims of crime, abuse and/or human trafficking and immigrant children.

Web Library and Directory of Service Providers:

NIWAP maintains an extensive web library of materials we have developed over the years, including bench cards, bench books, training manuals, state-by-state collections of laws, tools for states courts, legal and social science research, webinar recordings, and U.S. Department of Homeland Security and other federal government agency policies. These materials are available for download and free to use. Explore NIWAP's list of SJI training materials for courts at <https://niwaplibrary.wcl.american.edu/sji-jtn-materials>. NIWAP has also developed a comprehensive state-by-state Directory of Service Providers with experience serving immigrant victims of violence. Access this directory at www.niwap.org/directory.
